

Statement Updated – 9 April 2020

CE Electronics Ltd is monitoring the development of the Coronavirus and is following government recommendations and guidelines - ensuring the health and well-being of our employees, clients, and customers.

Effective immediately, CE Electronics has taken several measures including, but not limited to, the following:

- Non-essential meetings and travel have been suspended and have been replaced with alternate communications
- Ongoing communication with staff on health guidelines.
- Adherence to government guidelines regarding Coronavirus.
- Home working being encouraged where possible.
- Cleaning and disinfecting in all relevant areas.

As of today, our facilities are working although with reduced capacity. However, your orders are being processed, manufactured, and delivered. We have not experienced any disruptions in receiving goods from our suppliers. Should any of this change, we will be communicating it immediately.

We thank you for your continued business. May you all live long and prosper!
